Editors Report – Wendy Forman

EDITORS REPORT

As I stated in my last report, we are now having Members Car of the Month on the front page of the Magazine with a small editorial inside.

Up until now, I have only received one member's car and editorial, without your input it is very hard to produce an interesting magazine. Please send in photos and small stories on your car and yourself.

We are also now running a For Sale Section for anyone who wishes to sell anything corvette related. So once again, please help by supplying a couple of photos with price, phone number and editorial.

I also need photos and stories of our member's experiences ie; holidays, car shows, technical information, anything that would be interesting for our other Chapter Members to read.

The Editors job is to produce a newsletter and if I don't receive any input from our members, it will be a pretty boring.

I am not asking a lot, just some content that I can use.

Wendy Forman eagleviews@bigpond.com

I hope you enjoy this extra edition.

Look forward to hearing from you.

Funny Joke

Subject: Missing Wife

HERE'S YOUR SMILE FOR THE DAY !

A husband went to police station to report his missing wife:

Husband : I've lost my wife, she went shopping yesterday and has still not come home.

Sergeant : What is her height ?

Husband : Oh, 5 something . . .

Sergeant : Build?

Husband : Not slim, not really fat.

Sergeant : Color of eyes?

Husband : Never noticed.

Sergeant : Color of hair?

Husband : Changes according to season.

Sergeant : What was she wearing?

Husband : Dress/suit/blue jeans -- I don't remember exactly.

Sergeant : Did she go in a car?

Husband : yes.

Sergeant : What kind of car was it?

Husband : 2015 Corvette Stingray 3LT with the Z51 Performance Package, shark gray metallic paint, with the 6.2 litre V8 engine with Direct Injection generating 460 HP. 8-speed paddle- shift automatic transmission, and GT bucket seats, and has a very thin scratch on the front left door.....

at this point the husband started crying...

Sergeant : Don't worry sir.....We'll find your car...

1961 Corvette Differential Ratio determination & Judging School Event, Wangara, West Australia, January 2015

What's my rear axle ratio? That's the question Richard Geiger asked about his 1961 Corvette.

We know that 1958 -62 Corvette rear axles should have a round metal ratio identification tag attached to the rear axle housing stud at the 2 o'clock position above the casting number and date. Also, on 1953 through 1962 rear axles, the rear axle identification number should be stamped on the passenger side of the rear axle housing at the axle centre line. But what if over the years the identification tag has been lost and you cannot read or cannot find the stamped numbers, as was the case with Richards Corvette.

So we decided to find out what his ratio is.

We placed the Corvette on a four point hoist, transmission in neutral with the park brake off.

Once the Corvette was elevated and hoist locked, a horizontal chalk mark was drawn on the drive shaft and a vertical mark on one rear wheels.

Rotate the wheel one full turn while counting the drive shafts rotation. The drive shaft rotations on the 61 for one wheel rotation came to slightly over four turns. This indicates the rear axle ratio of 4:11. Other ratio's that might be found for 1955- 1962 Corvettes are 3:70, 3:55, 3:36, 3:08, 4:56.

Gary Wilkinson gave a one hour presentation on the overall standard deduction guidelines and use of the Judging Reference Manual prior to the event.

Members attending were;

David Moroney, Les Vanderweide, Richard Geiger, Terry Martin, Neal Bishop and Gary Cowans

1965 L78 Corvette Power steering Conversion & NCRS Judging School Event, Wangara, West Australia, February 2015

Gary Cowans says his 65, 396/425 is perfect except for the heavy steering. Perhaps he is getting old! So he decided to add power steering as a bolt on option in which the Corvette could be returned to manual steering should a future owner so desire.

He ordered the parts as below from Volunteer Vette in the US.

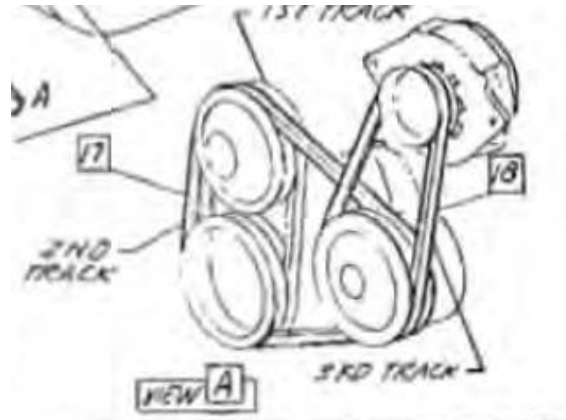

The conversion took place as an NCRS event at Terry's Professional Corvette Garage (Terry's Shed) in Western Australia.

Prior to starting the conversion Gary Wilkinson gave a one hour judging school presentation on the Matrix Judging Process using Finish, Date, Installation, Configuration & Completeness, (FDICC) on wheels & tyres.

The work required entailed relocating the alternator with new brackets, installing the power steering pump & brackets, replacing the Pitman Arm and Relay Rod. Two new belts are required to change the configuration as below.

As the Alternator will now be powered from the front groove on the Power Steering Pulley a new Alternator Pulley as below is required.

To enable the steering alignment to be set back to the same toe in after changing the drag link a reference was measured between the front wheels.

Work commenced under the hood removing and modifying the Alternator and removing the Alternator Brackets.

The Power Steering Pump was installed on the new mounting bracket and fastened to the front of the engine block. This proved to be easier than installing the bracket first and fitting the pump later as the rear mounting bolt on the pump is difficult to install with the bracket on the block.

The new Alternator Brackets and Alternator were installed next.

The Corvette was then raised on the hoist and the Relay Rod was removed after disconnecting the Tie Rod ends, Pitman Arm and Idler Arm.

We tried to pull the Pitman Arm from the Steering Box while the box was mounted on the chassis but we couldn't engage the puller correctly. Removing the box made the process easier.

The new Pitman Arm was located matching the splines on the old arm and torqued to 160Nm. The box was then reinstalled back in the car. The Power Steering control head was fitted to the new Relay Rod and fitted to the Pitman and Idler arms underneath the Corvette.

This was followed by installing the Power Cylinder bracket to the chassis and then connecting the cylinder to the Relay Rod.

The Tie Rod ends were relocated to the forward holes (17.6:1 ratio) and all nuts tightened to and split pins fitted. The bolt an on the control head was then torqued to 50Nm.

Shift the Tie Rod ends to the forward hole. Fit the hoses to the control head as above.

Connect the hoses to the pump, relay rod and control valve. We found it easier to connect the large inlet pump hose to the control valve first before the others. Note that the hoses are crossed on the control valve.

The Hoses can be tricky to install on the power steering ram since they angle outward and slightly upward. Do not use a wrench to tighten these until you start them by hand and secure them with at least 3-4 turns manually. Before starting the engine, move the wheels right to left and left to right throughout the full range of travel watching the hoses for any possible friction or binding points. Be sure to look at the power steering pressure and return hoses for binding concerns as well.

Disconnect the ram nut at the bracket. Fill the power pump with fluid. Upon initial start-up, do not place your arm between the steering wheel spokes. A maladjusted control valve can cause the steering wheel to turn abruptly left or right on its own. The control valve should be adjusted to centre at manufacture as was case here. If the Ram moves in or out when the engine is started the control valve will require balancing. Remove the cap to gain access to the control valve balance adjustment 7/16" nut. Adjust the nut left or right to obtain zero movement of the Ram.

Finally swing the steering hard left and right to ensure there are no fluid leaks and road test.

Torque Chart

Item	Torque Nm
Steering sector shaft nut to pitman arm	160
Pitman arm to drag rod	60
Idler Arm to drag rod	60

Sydney to Canberra Road Tour – All States Welcome

Car of the Month

This is my 1969 matching numbers 427/390 Corvette convert in a rarer colour of Monaco orange with hard top as well.

I purchased this car from a qld collector back in may 2014,

Once this car arrived I was only able to drive it for about 3-4 hrs before it decided to drop 5 out of 8 piston rings into the sump ,with this there was no choice but to rebuild the engine witch was done in a meticulous manor, that now has the car sounding and performing like a big block should.

I have wanted one of these beauties since 1986 and after 30yrs of wanting I was able to purchase this car with my wife's consent as she said that when my father passes away we will replace the funds, got to love a good wife, as this is what was going to my dads legacy to me. The engine was on a bit of a rush list as dad was very sick with prostate cancer, thanks to all that helped as we were able to get it back on the road and after some anxious waiting I finally got to take him for a cruise and yes at the age of 83 he sat in a car and done his first burnout. This was the 23rd July 2014 and dad passed on the 20th November.

Hence I don't think this car will ever be sold outside of my family if at all.

I hope you all enjoy the pics
